DRAMATIC NEW TESTAMENT BOOKS

BY

G. H. HOLROYD, M.A.

BOOK I. 144 pp. Manilla, 6s. 9d. Illustrated

BOOK II. In the press.

These are intended mainly for the eleven to thirteen age-group in Secondary Schools and Sunday Schools. The author believes the dramatic method of approach to be the most likely means of making the Bible seem real and alive to young people, and the book contains plays, dramatic interludes, conversation pieces, and passages for individual verse-speaking and choral work, all based on the New Testament; many of the pieces are suitable for the radio broadcast technique which has proved very popular in schools.

SELECTIONS FROM THE OLD TESTAMENT

EDITED BY A. GILKES, M.A.,
AND
GUY BOAS, M.A.

Cloth boards. 312 pp. 13s. 3*d.*

In their selection and annotation of these passages from the Old Testament, the editors have based their views on the most recent Biblical scholarship and criticism, and by occasional allusion have related the unchanging truth and lessons of the Bible to the world of today. Two useful maps are included.

*FUN AND ADVENTURE

BY

T. WRIGHT, M.A., PH.D.,

AND

M. D. WILSON, PH.D.

Coloured illustrations

BOOK 1. 64 pp. Manilla covers. 7s. 3d.

BOOK 2. 64 pp. In the press.

This series is intended for backward pupils in Secondary Modern Schools whose reading has not gone further than the comic or strip cartoon thriller. The authors' idea is to attract the interest of such readers by books which have content similar to that of the thriller, and some of the visual characteristics of the comic, but which have a better text.

Some of the stories are told mainly by means of pictures which correspond strictly to a brief text. Sometimes the stories are then retold, without illustrations, so that the pupil may have further practice in reading. Interspersed with these fully illustrated stories are short amusing scenes to act, exciting episodes from real life, and informative articles about interest-in people or topics, such as Wonderful Machines, Lighthouses, Dog Friends. Several of the stories are adapted from well-known authors.

Each story or article is brief and self-contained, the vocabulary is limited, and the sentence structures are simple. Book 1 is printed in black, red and green.

(Fun and Fancy, an anthology for backward pupils, is in the press. See page 34, under Poetry.)

CLASS-BOOKS FOR INDIVIDUAL WORK

ARRANGED BY

E. J. S. LAY

16 pp. each. Manilla covers. 1s. 6d. each

Fully illustrated in black and white

SET I .. BOOKS 1-8
SET II .. BOOKS 1-8
SET III .. BOOKS 1-8
SET IV .. BOOKS 1-8

This is an entirely new series of books providing abundant and varied material for individual work. The books in each set are of equal grade, and so written that a pupil can begin with any book of that particular set, but the four sets are graded. They were prepared especially for the Primary School, but they are also very suitable for backward streams among the younger pupils of Secondary Schools.

The books contain a simple four-year course of reading and exercises in English (including Poetry), History, Geography, Nature Stories and Miscellaneous Work, and are illustrated with many clear and attractive line drawings. The illustrations for Geography, History and Nature are copied from the large colour plates of Macmillan's Class Pictures (see pages 76, 80 and 139), so enabling teachers possessing these plates to supplement the children's work, but the books can also be used quite independently of the Class Pictures.

NEW ADVENTURE

BY

JOHN ASHBOURNE

BOOKS 1-3. 48 pp. each. Manilla, 3s. 1d. each

Illustrated

This series of three books of short stories is intended for Secondary School children of eleven to thirteen who have made little progress in reading in the Primary School. The vocabulary and the sentence structure are simple enough to give encouragement to pupils whose reading age is below the average, while the stories are about adventure and other topics suitable for their chronological age.

The stories are progressively longer: Book 1 contains five, Book 2 four and Book 3 three.

THE GOLDEN MONKEY

An abridged and simplified edition

BY

FRANK KNIGHT

144 pp. Mantex boards, 10s. 0d. Illustrated

Captain Frank Knight is a well-known writer of sea and adventure stories for young people, and he has prepared this special edition of his popular tale The Golden Monkey for backward Secondary children whose reading age is far behind their chronological age and their natural interest in exciting yarns. The original story has been abridged, complexities of plot have been omitted without affecting continuity, and the vocabulary has been adapted to suit the needs of these special pupils.

ARCHIE ANDREWS CALLING

BOOKS 1-6. 32 pp. each. Manilla covers, 3s. 1d. each

Coloured illustrations. Two stories in each book

- | | |
|---|--|
| 1. ARCHIE GUY FAWKES
ARCHIE THE AIRMAN | 4. ARCHIE ROBIN HOOD
ARCHIE AT THE CIRCUS |
| 2. ARCHIE THE COOK
FARMER ARCHIE | 5. ARCHIE AND THE ENGINE-DRIVER
FARMER ARCHIE |
| 3. ADMIRAL ARCHIE
ARCHIE'S ZOO | 6. ARCHIE ESQUIRE
ARCHIE'S CHRISTMAS |

Peter Brough and his broadcast programme with Archie Andrews has had wide popularity. Archie is a great favourite with the children, and these little stories about him are particularly suitable for encouraging backward pupils to read.

Each book contains two stories, written by Richard Parsons, who is becoming well known as a children's author, but told as though Archie himself is speaking. Gay illustrations in two-colour line by Lunt Roberts appear on every opening.

Archie appears in these pages as an attractive, lively youngster, full of high spirits, but with a sound idea of the school-boy's code of honour. Not only will children get a great deal of fun from the reading of the stories, but they will also be given indirect training in the understanding of right values.

MACMILLAN'S EASY STUDY SERIES

TALK, TALE AND SONG

For Secondary Schools

Manilla covers.				Coloured illustrations
PREPARATORY BOOK	..	80 pp.	..	7s. 3d.
BOOK I	96 pp.	..	8s. 3d.
BOOK II	128 pp.	..	9s. 3d.
BOOK III	128 pp.	..	10s. 0d.

This series of books has been prepared to serve as First Stage Readers for older pupils. Great care has been taken to combine a simple vocabulary and an easy approach with a content sufficiently mature to arouse and hold the interest of those whose chronological age is far in advance of their reading age.

The distinctive feature of the series is that many words, phrases and sentences are pictorially represented with their appropriate captions, which again occur in the text. By carefully studying the illustrations and extracts, the pupils will be encouraged to tackle the text with confidence.

INTRODUCING

1. THE SAILOR IN THE MERCHANT SERVICE and THE SAILOR IN THE ROYAL NAVY. 4s. By John Hornby.
2. THE ENGINE-DRIVER and THE SIGNAL-MAN. In the press.
By Andrew Wood.

64 pp. each. Manilla covers. Illustrated

Other titles in preparation

This new series of factual readers for the older Primary children and the younger pupils of Secondary Schools covers topics of human interest and describes the occupations and environment of people likely to attract the young (the fireman, the postman, the airman and so on), with general information relevant to their way of life. Each book contains two subjects, and is well illustrated with photographs and line drawings. At the end of the books there are questions on each chapter.

PICTURE PAGEANT

Manilla covers. 64 pp. each. Illustrated. 7s. 3d.

1. THE UNITED NATIONS. By John Hornby.
- *2. SHIPS. By Frank Crisp.
3. FORESTS OF BRITAIN. By John Hornby. In the press.
4. ROADS. By J. C. Uncles. In the press.
5. UNDERSEA WORLD. By John Hornby. In the press.

Other titles in preparation

This new series with their abundant illustrations and simply worded, interesting text will provide the "visual approach" reference books on single subjects for which we have had many requests from Secondary Modern Schools for the older pupils. The books are very readable introductions to their topics, and the numerous photographs and line drawings will particularly attract boys and girls for whom reading generally has little appeal.

SECONDARY BOOK III	..	384 pp.	..	14s. 0d.

In the series of readers to which these books belong simple and interesting material, written in a modern style and dealing with modern topics of interest, leads gradually to prose extracts from the works of the best contemporary writers, and then to excerpts from the great literature that has stood the rigorous test of time.

To ensure understanding, grading and association in style, content and length of selection have received special attention. A Study Section, arranged for separate grades of pupils, provides provocative and searching questions. A Glossary gives pointed aids to the reader's general knowledge.

BEGINNINGS

SELECTED AND EDITED BY

D. W. BARKER

116 pp. Manilla covers, 5s. od. Illustrated

This is an anthology of apprenticeship and successful venture suitable for the older pupils. It consists of fourteen prose extracts from novels, biographies and autobiographies, and each passage gives an account of a beginner's experiences or a fictional description of some youthful adventure. Cultural as well as practical vocations are represented, and the material should appeal to both sexes.

The books listed after each extract will provide further general reading for those who have become interested in a particular job.

(In the press. ACHIEVEMENT—an anthology which is a sequel to Beginnings.)

YOUNG VENTURE LIBRARY

These books are particularly suitable for use in Secondary Modern Schools. The narrative in each is lively enough to hold the interest of the least bookish pupils, and the series gives them, in a very palatable way, a wider picture of the world around them. The titles so far included in the series are:

THE ARK. By Margot Benary. 288 pp. 12s. 6d.

THE ADVENTURE OF WHALING. By Frank Crisp. 152 pp. 8s. 6d.

*YOUNG FARMERS IN SCOTLAND

BY NANCY MARTIN

168 pp. Mantex boards, 9s 3d. Illustrated.

A welcome addition to the author's popular Young Farmers' books.

*FIRST PERFORMANCE

BY
R. E. MASTERS

258 pp. Mantex boards, 11s. 9d. Illustrated

Mystery and music are the main ingredients in this unusual and exciting story for boys and girls. The discovery of an "unknown" manuscript by Mozart involves the Branson children and their two French friends in some surprising adventures.

The main theme, however, is music itself. In a novel and often very amusing way, young readers are introduced to many fascinating aspects of the contemporary musical scene. The symphony orchestra, for example, plays a major role. (Delightful illustrations of its instruments are included among the many line drawings by Lunt Roberts.)

Some stimulating notes, entitled "Clues to the Treasure," are included at the end of the book.

COMPILED BY MARY DAUNT

180 pp. Cloth boards, 10s.

This is an extended form of Book IV of Adventures into Poetry (above), in full cloth boards, and with useful notes which give guidance to the reading of those poems which might present some problem, explain difficult words and proper names, and include information on points of interest connected with the poems. The 112 poems in this collection are all the work of modern poets—British, Irish, American and Canadian—and there are not many that the pupil is likely to have encountered in other anthologies.

These selections have been made in the hope that for younger readers they will open the door to a world of beauty and make them eager to seek further treasures; for older readers they may serve as encouragement to renew acquaintance with former favourites. The compiler has aimed at bringing together some of the finest poems of our greatest poets and some outstanding works by others less well known. The poems here presented are such as should be known by all who wish to enter into possession of our great heritage of English Poetry.

FAVOURITE POEMS

AN ANTHOLOGY FOR YOUNG PEOPLE

SELECTED AND EDITED BY
C. M. GLOVER, M.A., LL.B.

Cloth boards . . . 142 pp. . . 9s. 3d.

“The best remains the best,” however many anthologies are compiled, and the editor of this volume of poems has had the courage to include many old and familiar friends. There is a danger nowadays, when English teaching in schools is so much more enterprising than it used to be, that pupils may become acquainted with poets and poems of the latest fashion without ever having the foundations of their taste and pleasure in poetry laid by knowledge of poems which have stood the test of time. Mr. Glover is ready to let us hear the modern voices provided that we listen to those of the past.

Authors include:—Rupert Brooke, Browning, Byron, Thomas Campbell, D. M. Coleridge, De la Mare, Austin Dobson, Conan Doyle, John Drinkwater, S. W. Foss, Sir Hugh Fraser, Norman Gale, Goldsmith, Kingsley, Kipling, E. V. Knox, Andrew Lang, Shane Leslie, Longfellow, Patrick MacGill, John Masefield, Sir Henry Newbolt, Alfred Noyes, T. L. Peacock, Scott, Southey, R. L. Stevenson, G. A. Studdert-Kennedy, Tennyson, Charles Wolfe, Wordsworth, W. B. Yeats.

MONA SWANN

BOOK I	..	96 pp.	Limp cloth,	7s. 3d.
BOOK II	..	250 pp.	Limp cloth,	12s. 3d.
BOOK III	..	196 pp.	Cloth boards,	11s. 0d.

The widespread development of the choral speaking of verse has suggested the making of this collection of poems which, in a diversity of ways, voice the thoughts and emotions of the group rather than those of the individual, and are consequently characterized by that impersonality which alone justifies the use of choral speech as a medium of expression.

It must be remembered, however, that choral speech does not necessarily imply unison speech. The multiplicity of ways in which the choir can be adapted to the demands of the poem are as yet hardly explored, but some possibilities are indicated and illustrated in An Approach to Choral Speech (see page 39), which has been written as an introduction to the practical use of this anthology.

In Book I the poems are graded for choirs of boys and girls from the age of eight to about twelve; in Book II they are arranged chronologically, and are suited to older choirs of all ages; in Book III they are selected entirely from twentieth-century poetry, and are suited to secondary-school and adult choirs.

BOOK 4	128 pp.	Manilla, 3s. 0d.	Cloth lined, 7s. 3d.

This series, to which an introductory book has now been added, is specially designed to provide an English course for the slower post-primary pupils whose needs are not satisfied by the usual course, and particularly for the B and C Streams of Secondary Modern Schools.

The Introductory Book, which is intended to prepare the way for Book 1, is more informal and places more reliance on pictures. While the first half is very easy, the material in the second half tends to overlap, in a simpler way, the beginning of Book 1; and the pupil should therefore go on to tackle the latter book with complete confidence.

Throughout the five books each page, with a few exceptions, is a complete chapter in itself. The aim of the series is to bring confidence to the slower pupils by giving them work they can in fact do. In every exercise all the material needed to come to the right answer is supplied. At the end of each of Books 1-4 there is a miniature Dictionary of all the words used in the vocabulary work.

BOOK 1	88 pp.	4s. 0d.

KEY (Introductory and Book 1).	72 pp.	7s. 3d.
KEY (Books 2 and 3).	88 pp.	8s. 3d.

These books are intended for Secondary Schools of all types, to meet the requirements of those teachers who prefer to give their own presentation of the subject, and desire merely examples carefully graded and suited to the age of the pupils concerned. Many of the exercises require only single words or short phrases or a correct choice of alternatives, thereby reducing the work of marking. Much of the work may be oral or written at the discretion of the teacher.

The exercises in all the books are arranged in twenty Sets as follows:

In Section A, Comprehension, they test understanding of simple diagrams, maps, pictures, advertisements, statistics, etc., as well as prose and verse passages. Section B, Vocabulary, gives practice in the choosing of nouns, verbs, adjectives and adverbs. Section C, Sentence Construction and Punctuation, gives training in the use of connectives in sentence building, and deals with the use of commas, full stops and quotation marks. Section D, Correct Usage, corrects the common errors in children's spoken and written English. Section E, Spelling and Pronunciation, contains interesting exercises which direct attention to spelling rules and peculiarities of behaviour, and which compel the use of a dictionary, as well as exercises on the pronunciation of some tricky words.
