

In a recent Roy Morgan telephone survey of 644 Australian men and women aged 14 and over...

School teaching was viewed as an honest profession

by 72% of participants

Respondents were asked to rate 30 professions for honesty and ethical standards using 'Very High', 'High', 'Average', 'Low' or 'Very Low'. Of those professions, school teachers were amongst the nine that received the largest percentage of 'Very High' and 'High' responses.

The 10 professions with the lowest percentage of 'Very High' and 'High' ratings included stock brokers and state and federal MPs.

