

Student exercise outside school

According to a new OECD report: 'Physically active students are less likely than those who do not participate in any kind of physical activity outside school to skip school, feel like an outsider at school, feel very anxious about schoolwork, or be frequently bullied.' The organisation surveyed 540,000 15-year-olds from 72 countries and economies on a range of wellbeing topics. Here are the results of some of the countries and economies.

Percentage of students who reported that they exercise or practice sports before or after school

* Lowest percentage reported of all countries and economies.

 Highest percentage reported of all countries and economies.