Schoolwork-related anxiety and test anxiety have a negative impact on student academic performance and wellbeing. The 2015 Programme for International Student Assessment (PISA) surveyed 15-year-olds about schoolwork-related anxiety.

This graph shows the proportions of Australian students who agreed with each of the schoolwork-related anxiety items compared to the proportion of students across all 35 OECD countries in PISA 2015.