

Wise words on lifelong learning

In our annual reader survey, we asked you: 'looking back on your experience as an educator, if you could share one piece of advice with your peers, what would it be?'

Here are some responses on the topic of lifelong learning.

'Teaching requires resilience and a lifelong commitment to learn and improve practice. It is also the most rewarding career you can choose.'

'We can always learn something new, so be open to new ideas!'

'KEEP LEARNING!'

'Don't stop learning, we can always get better at our craft.'

'Never stop learning and apply it to your context. Reflect and change if necessary, don't be afraid to fail, teaching is dynamic.'

'Always be reflective on your practice and seek new knowledge.'

'...Make your learning journey the same as our students - one of excitement, interest, creative, yet critical.'

'Keep learning and developing - never assume you know it all. We all have a continuing need to keep growing personally and professionally.'
