

Global status of teachers

A survey of education officials and union leaders* from all levels of education in 94 different countries has given insight into how the teacher profession is viewed at a global scale. Here, we share some of the survey responses in relation to K-12 settings.

Status among members of the public of teachers in different education sectors

The image of and attitude to teachers promoted by mass media

Status change of teachers since the start of the COVID-19 pandemic

*128 respondents from Africa, Asia-Pacific, Europe, Latin America, North America, and the Caribbean.

Responses were not compulsory so some of the totals may not equal 100 per cent.
