

Wise words on

continuous learning

Each year we invite our readers to share a piece of advice they'd give to a fellow educator. Here are some of your responses on the topic of continuous learning.

Keep learning and keep asking questions.

Never be afraid to change your teaching and try new things. Always be open to different ideas.

Be on a path of continuous improvement.

The more you can listen and reflect on your current teacher practice the more you can and will learn! You never stop learning!

Be a life-long learner – make time to upskill yourself.
